

JUNGIAN ENCOUNTER WITH THE SOUL OF SRI LANKA
Sponsored by the C.G. Jung Foundation of New York
Guest Faculty – Ashok Bedi M.D., Jungian Psychoanalyst
JANUARY 8 - 20, 2017

The C.G. Jung Foundation of New York is proud to sponsor the twelfth educational tour to the Subcontinent, to Sri Lanka in 2017, C.G. Jung's last stop on his journey in 1937. This trip is an opportunity to see Sri Lanka through the lens of analytical psychology. It will allow participants to perceive the archetypal depths of life and psyche expressed in their myth and art, and to understand how the experience and expression of these archetypal dimensions greatly influenced culture and civilization. We are honored to have once again as our guest faculty Dr. Ashok Bedi. The Continuing Education aspect of the program is offered by the C.G. Jung Institute of Chicago.

Almost dangling like a pendant from the southern tip of India, Sri Lanka has been known as the Pearl of the Orient. This tropical island is a place where the original soul of Buddhism still flourishes and where nature's beauty remains abundant and unspoiled. Few places in the world can offer a remarkable combination of stunning landscapes, pristine beaches, abundance of wildlife and captivating cultural heritage within such a compact location.

Join us in this extraordinary journey to Sri Lanka beginning in Colombo, followed by Sigiriya, Habarana, Dambulla's cave temples, Polonnaruwa, the ancient kingdom, Minneriya National Park with its wild elephants, Kandy's Temple of the Sacred Tooth of immense importance to Buddhist pilgrims, and the wonderful seaside town of Galle with its glorious past of Portuguese, Dutch and British influences.

This journey offers 15 CEs and is tax-deductible by the extent the law allows. Land cost per person $5,650
